

Joe Mull Biography

SHORT BIO:

Known as a dynamic, captivating speaker, Joe is a sought-after expert on workforce, leadership, and teamwork subjects. He is the author of 3 books including Employalty: How to Ignite Commitment and Keep Top Talent in the New Age of Work, and he hosts the popular podcast Boss Better Now. Joe previously managed training at one of the largest healthcare systems in the country and has taught leadership courses at two major universities. Joe's programs combine energy, humor, stories, and rich social science research with clear, real-world takeaways on how to find and keep devoted employees, become better bosses, and create thriving workplaces.

FULL BIO:

Known as a dynamic, captivating speaker, Joe Mull, M.Ed, CSP teaches leaders and business owners how to be better bosses and make work "work for all". He is the author of three books: Cure for the Common Leader, No More Team Drama, and his latest, Employalty: How to Ignite Commitment and Keep Top Talent in the New Age of Work. He is the host of the globally popular Boss Better Now podcast, ranked in the Top 100 of all management podcasts (Apple). His podcast was recently named by SHRM as a "can't miss show for leaders" (along with Brené Brown and Harvard Business Review) and was also a finalist for last year's People's Choice award in the Business/Management category.

As a thought leader and subject matter expert, Joe brings decades of real-world experience to his writing and speaking. He previously served as head of Learning & Development for Physician Services at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center (UPMC), where he directed learning strategy and implementation for one of the largest physician groups in the U.S. Prior to his years of service in healthcare, he spent a decade working in leadership and program development roles in student affairs in higher education and taught leadership courses at two major universities. Joe has appeared as an expert in multiple media outlets including Forbes, Fortune, Newsweek, The Wall Street Journal and the International Business Times.

Joe holds the coveted Certified Speaking Professional™ (CSP®) designation from the National Speakers Association (NSA). Held by fewer than 20% of professional speakers worldwide, the CSP is the speaking profession's international measure of speaking excellence.

Joe resides in Pittsburgh, PA with his wife, three children, and a needy dalmatian named Flash. For more information, visit joemull.com.

NOTE: These biographies are for printed, web, and promotional materials only. A separate introduction will be provided to introduce Joe to your audience ahead of his program.